

ECHOES FROM THE FLOOD.

Bridges.

The iron bridge on the river road, opposite the beer garden, is standing on its end. The ice knocked the east end of the abutment. The bridge is almost a total loss.

The wooden bridge between the woolen mills and the city, on Main Cross street, is a total wreck,—not worth a dollar.

The Sandusky street bridge across Eagle Creek is damaged—but to what extent is not yet known. No teams are allowed to pass over it.

Lincoln street bridge is broken all to pieces. The bottom has fallen out since the water went down. This bridge is a new one, having been completed but a short time ago.

The Commissioners examined the Main street bridge yesterday and pronounced it to be safe for travel.

The iron, outlet bridge near John Robinson in Marion township washed off, and is landed on the river bank, five miles from town, and the river bridge a short distance below is somewhat damaged.

The bridges in Blanchard township passed through the flood without receiving any injuries.

The L. E. & W. bridge at Fostoria was so badly damaged Saturday evening that trains could not pass over it. The trains on that road will be run on the Nickel Plate from Fostoria to Arcadia until the bridge is placed in safe condition.

Miscellaneous.

The farms of Mr. Lewis Dukes, Jr., Goo. T. Downing, Sol Fry, James Slosser, Ol Shaw, Sol Schwartz, in Blanchard township were all under water. The water was up to the eaves of the barn of Mr. Slosser.

Several thousand bushels of corn in the shock were carried away from farmers down the river. The damage done to the corn in the field will be very heavy.

The boiler and machinery in the Eagle Mills was completely flooded. It will be several days before it will be in running order. Considerable lumber and staves was carried away from the mill.

The water stood four feet in Hill's blacksmith shop. His damage will be considerable.

Mr. W. Grable, residing about three miles up the river, says the river was four feet higher than at any time within twenty-nine years.

T. J. Burns south of town lost about 80 rods of fence.

Mr. Aaron Baker lost nearly all his fencing on the side of his farm next to the river.

A. M. Keifer on the east side lost five hogs—drowned.

A son of Mr. Ramsey on the opposite side of the river from Mr. Burns, narrowly escaped drowning.

Mr. Whitmer, five miles down the river, lost twenty hogs and a number of sheep. Value not known.

Four families in Arcadia were compelled to leave their houses and seek shelter elsewhere. The whole county was covered with water.

E. Hagler's wagon was washed away. It was loaded with tin ware. Some of the ware was recovered near the brick yard in North Findlay.

People living in the flooded district are cleaning out their houses to-day.

The bedding of Mr. L. C. Smith is almost a total loss.

M. L. Tisdale lost about seven bushels of potatoes and a valuable sewing machine.

Joe Feldkircher had about $30 worth of fallow washed away.

Geo. Mathews had an organ flooded and ruined.

The Commissioners say that the loss to the county will be very large.

The good ladies of North Findlay met at the residence of Murray Waltman, last night, and made two comforters, for L. C. Smith's family.

L. C. Smith and Lon. Bacher will move into Dr. Kimmell's house, until their houses can be repaired.

The water was so high in Henry Bacher's house, in North Findlay, that it soaked the keys off a melodeon.

The damage done to the twine factory, it is thought, will reach $3,000.

The boilers and all the machinery in the Woolen Mills were completely covered with water.

The creek which runs through Arington, got very high and ran all over the neighborhood.

As too long retirement weakens the mind, so too much company dissipates it.

Thousands of women bless the day on which Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" was made known to them. In all those derangements causing backache, dragging-down sensations, nervous and general debility, it is a sovereign remedy. Its soothing and healing properties render it of the utmost value to ladies suffering from "internal fever," congestion, inflammation, or ulceration. By druggists.

Experience is the extract of suffering.

*If Mrs. India E. Pinkham has not really discovered the Elixir Vita, which the ancient Alchemists sought by so much patient research and persistent experiment, her medicine seems, at least, likely to command an immense sale and universal popularity in the future. If rapid progress and eminent success furnish any basis for a correct judgment, Mrs. Pinkham is a most promising competitor for such honorable distinction as the alchemists failed to achieve.
